In the letter of reference from SF to Pittsburgh the latter office been several inquiries to identify them as contacts of persons being investigated under the Top Hoodlum program.

ANGELO MARINO operates the California Cheese Company, 295 West San Carlos Street, San Jose. This company has been financed by the elder MARINO. A reliable source [redacted]

ANGELO is [redacted] former [redacted]

requested ANGELO MARINO's assistance in contacting JOHN LA ROCCA, Pittsburgh Top Hoodlum.

ANGELO MARINO presently resides at 1879 Ellen Avenue, San Jose.

SALVATORE MARINO, age 58, resides at 755 Willow Glen Way, San Jose. He formerly resided at 326 Baldwin Avenue, Sharon, Pa. The Retail Credit Bureau for Santa Clara Valley at San Jose, in a report dated 10/1/51, reflects that MARINO, from May 1930, was an employee and partner of the Tri-State Music Co., which leased and dealt in juke boxes etc., He is also reported in this report to have been connected with the "numbers racket".
The report further states that he has an "ample income from the music company and other sources", and as of February 1954, was still a partner in the Tri-State Music Company of Sharon, Pa.

It is, therefore, suggested that a comprehensive review of the SF office indices be made concerning these persons, and separate index files being opened on ANGELO A. MARINO and SALVATORE MARINO.

RE: JAMES JOSEPH LANZA

It would appear from the information on this toll ticket, that subject, himself, did not know how to contact LA ROCCA. It would further appear that ANGELO MARINO would know how to contact LA ROCCA at an unlisted number in Pittsburgh. Furthermore, the unlisted number called for LA ROCCA was not listed to LA ROCCA, but was listed to another individual who has been convicted of Anti-Racketeering violation.

Telephone number GYpress 2-4956 is listed to the California Cheese Company, 295 West San Carlos, San Jose, California. The City Directory for San Jose lists ANGELO A. MARINO [redacted] California Cheese Company, with home address of 1879 Ellen Avenue, San Jose.

San Francisco Office indices reflect that ANGELO A. MARINO

[redacted] MIKE MAGGIO, top Philadelphia hood, who operates a large cheese business in Philadelphia, Pa. ANGELO MARINO's father, SALVATORE MARINO, is a co-owner with ANGELO in the operation of the California Cheese Company at 295 West San Carlos Street, San Jose, California. They have operated this business for approximately eight years, having purchased it from a WILLIAM BIONDI. SALVATORE MARINO, age 58, resides at 755 Willow Glen Way, San Jose; formerly resided at 326 Baldwin Avenue, Sharon, Pa.

The Retail Credit Bureau for Santa Clara Valley at San Jose, in a report dated 10/1/51, reflects that MARINO, from May 1930, was an employee and partner of the Tri-State Music Co., which leased, installed and repaired juke boxes and machines, and also sold and leased records. He was reputed, according to this report, to have been connected with the "numbers racket." These records state that he has "ample income from the music company and other sources." The record continues that MARINO left Sharon, Pa. in July 1951 to visit San Jose, and as of 10/2/51 became a partner with his son, ANGELO, in the California Cheese Company. The record further indicates that as of February 1954, SALVATORE MARINO was still a partner in the Tri-State Music Co. of Sharon, Pa.

Re memo SA C. D. Marron dated 5/21/58 concerning a telephone call to Peter Terranova, 7528 Seven Hills Road, Castro Valley. The attention of the agent to whom this case is assigned is called to the case involving James Lanza, Anti-Racketeering. In that matter Lanza was observed to be in touch with Terranova and the writer wrote a memo about a week ago identifying Terranova. Full details are in the memo in the Lanza case but the following is set forth from memory.

Terranova has lived at the above address for over ten years. It is an older house surrounded by trees and appears to have rental units in the rear. He claims to be a representative for a cheese company in Fond du Lac, Wisconsin and has a rather inactive small three figure account at the Castro Valley Branch of the Bank of America. Apparently his account was more active in the past since he was furnished courtesy cards which are only give to special customers in previous years.

The records of the Hayward Office, Credit Bureau of the Greater East Bay as checked on May 12, 1958, reflected that PIETRO (PETER) TERRANOVA has lived at 7528 Seven Hills Road, Castro Valley since about 1944. He is reportedly about 59 years old. [redacted] In 1954, which was the date of the last report, TERRANOVA listed his occupation as a food broker employed by himself and representing the Grand Gheese Co., 254 Lewis Street, Fond du Lac, Wisconsin. He claimed to have been representing this company for five years. There was no further information concerning him and he had no record in the Hayward Office of the Sheriff's Department of Alameda County which is the law enforcement agency for Castro Valley.

A physical check of the above address on May 12, 13, and 15, 1958, revealed it to be an older type house surrounded by trees and it appears that there are several outbuildings in the rear which appear to be rental units. No car or persons were noticed at the house at the time it was checked.

On May 15, 1958, Mr. [redacted] Bank of America, Castro Valley Branch, identified the picture supplied the writer as being that of PIETRO TERRANOVA. He said that TERRANOVA has had an account at the bank for at least five years and possibly longer, and in past years has been issued three courtesy cards which are given to favored customers. He said that in 1957 and until February 1958 the account was dormant. Since that time it has had slight activity with a few small checks being drawn on it and a balance of $300-400. He stated that there did not appear to be any unusual activity in the account since it was reactivated in February 1958.

162 CLASSIFICATIONS

Prior to the passage of Federal legislation effecting interstate gambling activities, the San Francisco Office conducted a comprehensive survey of the gambling existing on a local level within the division to determine the existence, if any, of wire services into the area and to the extent of bookmaking operations. By letter dated 8/2/61, this office submitted a letter to the Bureau, SF file number 162-8 entitled "Criminal Intelligence Program, Interstate Gambling Activities" in which it was reported our investigative efforts to that time in this field.

As a result of these investigations, it was determined that no wire services or large scale bookmaking operations were active in this division at the present time. With the exception of two cases, SF file 162-128, LAWRENCE J. SPEARS Interstate Gambling Activities - Bookmaking, and SF file [REDACTED] no information has been developed to indicate other subjects on whom IGA investigations have been opened are connected with individuals outside of the San Francisco Division in their bookmaking operations.

California Cheese Company

On June 15, 1959, SALVATORE MARINO in an interview by SAs C.
DARWIN MARRON and CHARLES J. PRELSNIK advised that the California Cheese Company was started in approximately 1949 by WILLIAM BIONDI and MARINO's son, ANGELO, who were brothers-in-law. After a few years of operation they lost a considerable amount of money at which point SALVATORE MARINO left his business with the Tri-State Music Company in Pennsylvania and came to San Jose, California, to assist in the operation of the company.
He said he invested a large amount of money and time in the firm and that he and his son had built the company up to a point where they do an excess of one million dollars per year in gross at the time. He said that BIONDI who was not a good cheese man, quit and went back to New Jersey where he now resides. SALVATORE MARINO said that he had been offered a considerable sum of money by a large American Cheese manufacturer for the sale of the California Cheese Company. He is confronted, if he is to remain in business, with an expansion problem which he is now considering. He said that he is reluctant to sell or liquidate the business as he was afraid that unemployment would not be desirable for his son, ANGELO, who shares the business with him. He noted, however, that the details of any proposed sale as mentioned previously would require that ANGELO MARINO and

An article appearing in the June 25, 1960 issue of the "San Jose Mercury", a daily newspaper, reported that the California Cheese Company had completed its new major plant. The article stated that the company formed only eleven years before, expected to hit sales of two million dollars this year. Completion of its new 16,500 square foot plant was announced at 1457 Sunny Court, San Jose, California. The plant reportedly handles more than 125,000 pounds of milk a day to produce more than six tons of ricotta, mozzarella, fresh and dry Monterey Jack, and various other types of grated cheeses. The firm distributes through eleven Western States as well as military points in the South Pacific. It is reported that according to SALVATORE MARINO, and his sons, ANGELO and JOSEPH, who founded the firm, the largest item packed was mozzarella, which is a prime ingredient of pizza. The article reported that the new plant building had nearly all new equipment with completely modern facilities. The firm reportedly employed 36 persons, including nine in sales personnel. The article announced that the firm was to have an open house on the date of this publicity.

A Dun and Bradstreet Report dated March 27, 1958, reflects that the California Cheese Company was started on March 15, 1949, and as of March 21, 1957, was operated as a partnership consisting of ANGELO MARINO and his father, SALVATORE MARINO; SALVATORE MARINO having taken over the interest of WILLIAM BIONDI in November, 1951. SALVATORE MARINO held notes against the partnership in the amount of $52,500. JOSEPH MARINO, another son of SALVATORE MARINO, is also active in the business and acts as purchasing agent. The firm was said to operate with satisfactory balances averaging from low four to moderate four figures. Annual sales were estimated at $100,000, and inventory of merchandise and supplies were estimated between thirty and forty thousand dollars, with fixed assets being equipment, machinery, and trucks, having a net value of nearly $30,000.

This report noted that a branch of the cheese company was maintained at 844 Kohler Street, Los Angeles, California. Sales were estimated near one million dollars yearly and the operations were said to be profitable.

After leaving the Grossmont Hospital, he was taken to the Stanford Medical Center, where MARINO was operated on. Plastic valves have been inserted in MARINO's heart. He is confined to his home and, according to [REDACTED] must remain completely inactive from all business and other activities in order to remain alive. The California Cheese Company business is being operated now by hired managers at San Jose. They have the plant at San Jose, as well as distribution warehouses in San Diego and Los Angeles. Sacramento indices indicate a 92 reference to the Leprino firm in some investigation requested by San Francisco but pertinent data has been destroyed at Sacramento.

Several years ago, a large cheese plant for mozzarella cheese was built at Tracy, California, by Petaluma Co-Op of Petaluma, California, at a cost of about ten million dollars. Recently, it was taken over by Leprino Brothers Cheese Company, Denver. The Chief of Police in Tracy advises that he heard from Inspector [] of the San Francisco Police Department, Intelligence Detail, that [] Leprino Brothers Cheese has been seen in the company of ANGELO MARINO, a San Jose, California, cheese manufacturer, who has known connections with organized crime (OC). Their meeting took place in San Francisco and involved some other unknown persons in Minnesota. The Chief is concerned that people connected with the OC will come to the area or will launder OC funds through the Tracy plant.

SUBJECT: ORGANIZED CRIME INFLUENCES IN CONTRA COSTA COUNTY
INFORMATION CONCERNING

For the past several years, law enforcement intelligence units have reported that JOE BONANNO, Sr. and his "family" were coming West to reside, visit or to exert criminal influence in Northern California. A recent State report on organized crime disclosed that the reasons for mob figures from all over the country are coming to California in increasing numbers is attributed to organized crime controls, good weather, and California's vast wealth. Whatever the reason, in the opinion of this agent, they have arrived. However, this memorandum will be concerned only with alleged organized crime influences in Contra Costa County.

JOSEPH BONANNO, Sr.'s background and reputation as a boss of an LCN family and a former commission member is well known to law enforcement who regard him as one of the leading crime figures of today. Although he appears to have established permanent residence in Arizona, he frequently visits Northern California, generally staying with [REDACTED] and frequently with [REDACTED] California. [REDACTED] BONANNO, has been previously identified as a LCN member in the San Francisco family. [REDACTED] California, and has numerous real estate holdings in South San Francisco and Burlingame.

[redacted] residence indicate calls to BONANNO in Tucson, LCN members in the Los Angeles area and frequent calls to LCN boss [redacted] Michigan. It is to be noted that when [redacted] and several other LCN members visited San Francisco last year, [redacted] in the San Jose family, spent two days together in a San Francisco hotel. [redacted] was observed attending the funeral of LCN boss NICK LICATA in Los Angeles and mixing with the hierarchy of organized crime during this incident. Some sort of business arrangement apparently exists between [redacted] BONANNO inasmuch as [redacted] visited [redacted] prominent LCN figure in Southern California, who was slain in March, 1977, and efforts to have BOMPENSIERO intercede in some problem he was having with BONANNO. CARL RIO, 1001 Poinsetta, advised as follows:

He was born at Farrell, Pennsylvania and resided there until 1947. While a youth he casually knew the SALVATORE MARINO family whose home was in nearby Sharon, Pennsylvania. He had no further contact with the MARINO family during his adult life at Farrell.

In 1947, RIO moved to Compton, California, and was engaged in the produce business until 1954. In that year he received a telephone call from SALVATORE MARINO and was informed that the MARINO family operated the California Cheese Company at San Jose, California. SALVATORE told RIO that he had heard through the "grapevine" that RIO had moved to the Los Angeles area and asked RIO if he would be interested in operating the Los Angeles Branch of the California Cheese Company. RIO told MARINO that he would consider it.

As a result of the telephone call, SALVATORE, MARINO, and his son ANGELO MARINO came to the RIO home in Compton to discuss the matter further. The MARINOS told RIO that the present Los Angeles Branch Manager for the cheese company was unsatisfactory and again offered RIO the job. During this visit SALVATORE told RIO that he had heard of RIO's move to Compton [redacted] Pennsylvania.

RIO accepted the job offer. The previous manager had allowed the business to deteriorate to the point that only one truck delivery route operated. Over the following seven years, RIO improved the business to the extent that four delivery trucks and three salesmen were utilized in the distribution of California Cheese Company products in the Los Angeles - San Diego area. During this same period, the Los Angeles Branch moved from its original location at Central Avenue and 4th Street to 844 Kohler Street, and finally to its present location at 1033 East Olympic Boulevard.

In about April, 1961, the California Cheese Company sent [redacted] SALVATORE MARINO, and a man whose last name is [redacted] from the plant at San Jose to the Los Angeles Branch for the alleged purpose

RIO attempted unsuccessfully to collect earned commissions, vacation pay and travel expenses due him at the time of his dismissal.

RIO stated that SALVATORE MARINO visited the Los Angeles Branch only six to eight times during the period from 1954 to 1961. RIO was not aware of his activities in Los Angeles, when not at the company office. RIO also said that his only contacts with SALVATORE were at the branch office.

ANGELO MARINO visited the Los Angeles Branch three to four times each year during the 1954-1961 period. RIO's conversations with ANGELO were confined to cheese company business. RIO recalled that ANGELO usually stayed at the Statler-Hilton, Los Angeles, or at a motel on Hollywood Boulevard. RIO had no social contacts with ANGELO and does not recall that ANGELO mentioned the names of his acquaintances in the Los Angeles area.

RIO stated that he is not aware of any underworld connections on the part of SALVATORE or ANGELO MARINO.

DeathsAngelo Marino

RANCHO MIRAGE RUPD — Angelo Marino, a reputed Northern California Mafia leader, tried for murdering an extortionist at his cheese company headquarters in San Jose, died Friday of cardiac arrest.

A nursing supervisor at Eisenhower Medical Center said Marino, 58, who twice underwent bypass surgery for congestive heart failure, had been hospitalized for some time before his death at approximately 9 a.m. PST.

"He was here for an extended period, went home briefly, then returned a couple of weeks ago," the supervisor, who asked not to be identified, said.

Marino, known as the "cheese king," was founder of the California Cheese Co., which markets the Precious brand of mozzarella cheese.

He was described in a 1978 state attorney general's report as "a high level member of the San Jose Mafia for many years," and was listed in U.S. Senate records as a captain in La Cosa Nostra crime family.

Marino was convicted in June 1970 of second-degree murder in the 1977 execution-style slaying of Peter Catelli, who was shot in the head at the firm's office after he allegedly tried to extort $100,000 from Marino.

Marino was also convicted of other charges including the attempted murder of Catelli's father, assault and false imprisonment, but the verdicts were later overturned on grounds that jurors had read about the case against court orders.

At his death, Marino was awaiting a second trial that had been delayed by his ill health. His son, Salvatore, 34, was convicted in the same case last year and is serving a nine-year prison sentence.
